

CRUISE CONTROL

'Cruiser Bob' Kiger envisions Southland cyclists' superhighway

By Susan Lee
Daily Bruin Contributor

After years of pedaling his black Kestral Mountain Bike over terrain of all varieties, "greenway" designer Bob Kiger is moving in a new direction – and if he gets his way, it will be straight through the cemetery.

Fresh from a 14-year stay in Hawaii, Kiger – an avid bicyclist known in Maui as "Cruiser Bob" – is campaigning for the creation of a "greenway" bike route running through West Los Angeles.

Kiger's plan would give commuters the option of traveling by bike over the Sepulveda Pass from the San Fernando Valley and along an east-west path connecting UCLA and Brentwood.

Kiger envisioned the route as a straight path starting at the UCLA Medical Center, cutting through the Veterans' Administration Cemetery and Veterans' Administration facility and ending up near Brentwood.

Kiger explained that he sees his role primarily as that of a scout when it comes to "greenway" construction.

"All I do is sniff out potential routes and get the word out about connecting pre-

See CRUISER BOB, page 12

